PROFILE

I am a very motivated and positive person, with a passion for great design and typography. I was born on 25.08.1984 in Oslo, Norway. I have had a lot of creative influences from early on, both friends and family, and that was pretty much what got me going on this path. My design interest span across many platforms, interior-, interaction-, product-, web- and print design are all things I find intriguing, not to mention art and painting. My main focus and biggest interests is still on graphic design and typography.

My interests outside design is cycling, training, fashion and travel. I love to travel and I think that travel is a very good way to get inspired, learn new things and evolve - both as a designer and as a person. I consider myself to be easygoing and polite, and always willing to take on something new.
